Locating Significance in the Lives of Boys

11 & 12th March 2011

“Creating a Culture of Wellness in boys’ Schools”

Attention: All heads of Sport

The IBSC – National Conference in South Africa 11 & 12th March 2011

With a central theme around locating significance in the lives of boys, we have the privilege of hosting the international lecturer and author Dr Adam J. Cox. He has been quoted in a variety of print media about psychological issues affecting families and youth. These publications include the New York Times, Family Circle, Time Magazine, Child, and many others. Author of two world acclaimed works, “No Mind Left Behind” and “Boys of Few Words” this is certainly not an opportunity to be missed.

All workshops during the conference will give one the opportunity to focus on one of the following main sub-themes in locating significance in the lives of boys. The four main sub-themes are:

- 1) Fields of Significance (Sport)
- 2) Performances of Significance (Arts and Creativity)
- 3) Classrooms of Significance (Teacher Motivation and Pedagogy)
- 4) Communities of Significance (Spirituality and service)

Within “Fields of Significance” we will be taking a closer look at the importance of teacher involvement outside the classroom, steroids and policy, food supplement and monitoring progress in a digital age amongst others.

In addition you will have the opportunity to hear how David Grier ran some 4000 km along the Great Wall of China, over a period of four months. He ran another 4000 km around the coastline of southern Africa, from Namibia to Mozambique.

In March 2010 David returned from a four month solo adventure, creating another world first, where he paddled 500km from Africa to Madagascar across the Mozambique channel and then ran the entire length of the island from south to north a distance of 2700km, an adventure that has by far been his most grueling event to date.

Enjoy the diversity of Richard Cock’s focus on music in the integration and teaching of leadership styles.

Gala dinner - Moyo, Melrose Arch.
